CONSIDER JOINING NATHPO TODAY

Created in 1998, the National Association of Tribal Historic Preservation Officers (“NATHPO”) was organized by the first class of Tribal Historic Preservation Officers (“THPOs”) to serve an unmet need in Indian country. NATHPO membership benefits include specific information about cultural preservation, tribal museums and cultural centers, and related issues. For more information about THPOs and NATHPO, please see our website – www.nathpo.org

NATHPO offers an associate membership category for the duly designated American Indian and Alaska Native tribal governments that are:

- Directing a tribal preservation program seeking approval pursuant to Section 101(d)(2) of the National Historic Preservation Act;
- Directing a tribal preservation program considering seeking approval pursuant to Section 101(d)(2) of the National Historic Preservation Act;
- Directing a tribal program dedicated to or actively supporting the purposes of NATHPO.
