"The National Endowment for the Arts is committed to bringing the best of the American arts to all Americans. Our grants range from supporting new presentations of theatrical classics and contemporary art to providing arts workshops in schools - -across all fifty states in communities large and small. I am delighted to announce this most recent round of NEA support," said NEA Chairman Dana Gioia.

Access to Artistic Excellence grants awarded in this round will support the creation and presentation of work in the disciplines of dance, design, folk and traditional arts, literature, media arts, museums, music, musical theater, presenting, theater, and visual arts. Grants to Local Arts Agencies will support service-to-the-field projects that assist artists and arts organizations to improve managerial and strategic resources. Projects funded through Access to Artistic Excellence grants include commissions, residencies, workshops, performances, exhibitions, publications, festivals, and professional development programs. The NEA will fund 620 grants in this category out of 1,040 eligible applications, for a total federal investment of $12,510,250.
