

Steven Concho
Pueblo of Acoma

Steven Concho is a tribal member from the Pueblo of Acoma also known as “Sky City” in New Mexico. Steven has carried his role as the Pueblo of Acoma’s Tribal Historic Preservation Officer (THPO) for four (4) years but has been involved with the Historic Preservation Department for nearly nine (9) years. As the THPO, Steven works to ensure that the current Acoma Pueblo lands, as well as the larger Acoma Cultural Province, is protected for future generations and those yet to be born. Steven attended school at New Mexico State University and studied Business Administration. He has served as Marketing Director for various New Mexico Casinos for over 12 years and as a hobby, Steven is a professional DJ, KJ, and Emcee. As the THPO, Steven’s goal is to educate the community about the importance of historic preservation and help the younger generation find interest in the fields of Archaeology, Anthropology, or other studies related to Historic Preservation.